

Managing a 21st century IT department is the ultimate balancing act.

Whether you're an established organization experiencing dramatic growth but worried that your IT department is lacking strategic direction or you're a Chief Information Officer looking for someone to handle the day-to-day blocking and tackling, you need Long Term Strategic IT Support.

CIOs wear a lot of hats. We help keep them from falling off.

Strategic CIO/CTO Services:

VertitechIT employs former senior IT executives who can step in to assist in defining strategy, operating platforms, operations, and support.

On-Site Technical Support:

Along with its Netwurx™ Managed IT Services providing proactive monitoring of all key components, Long Term Support can include on-site technical personnel to manage day-to-day maintenance tasks and offer vendor coordination and new device acquisition support for the entire organization.

IT Operation Design:

Long Term Support executives can develop new or refine existing operational design procedures, security, and disaster recovery (DR) plans. These may include end state diagrams, configuration data, hardware and software cost estimates, and outsourcing recommendations.
